

BELIEVE SEVEN LOST ON BOAT; BODY IS FOUND

Party Caught On Sloop
In Long Island Sound,
Drowned, is Belief

ALL ARE PROMINENT

Storm Cause; Body is Identified

NEW YORK, May 27.—Slight hope for the safety of a party of seven New Yorkers on the sloop Sea Fox, caught in thick weather on Long Island sound, was held today. The body of a woman washed ashore at Darien, Conn., was identified this morning as Mrs. Marcia Snedden, 24, known to have been a member of the yachting party.

Mrs. Snedden was the wife of Donald Snedden, owner of the sloop, and an associate professor of psychology at the school of education, New York university. He is among the missing.

LEFT SATURDAY

The Sneddens and their friends left late Saturday night or just before dawn Sunday morning for a sail. Alarm was felt for the party's safety when they failed to return and yesterday afternoon the body of a woman was found on the beach near Darien. Later a brother of Mrs. Snedden identified the body as that of his sister.

The missing in addition to Snedden were:

Mark Coyne, 28, artist and instructor.

Robert Mendenhall, 29, an employee of the statistical bureau, Columbia University.

Florence Mendenhall, 29, Mendenhall's wife.

Robert Johnston, 30, radio entertainer.

Miss Doris Dewey, 29, psychiatrist attached to the girls service league.

Investigators said they believed the sloop was blown to sea in a near gale on Saturday night or Sunday morning in the sound. A lifebelt was around Mrs. Snedden's body when it was washed ashore.

REPORT OTHERS

A report that Miss Adele Ryan, granddaughter of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, financier, was in the party, was denied today by her brother. Some doubt existed as to whether Johnston was among the missing but his friend, William Soskin, a writer, said he knew Johnston had sailed on the sloop. Mrs. Coyne was to have joined the party but was ill.

Snedden's father, David, a former state education commissioner of Massachusetts, is a professor of education at Columbia.

George B. Pagan, head of the department of physics at Columbia and a friend of the Sneddens and Coyne, said the Sea Fox was a fast boat with a sturdy motor. He doubted the theory that the sloop had foundered.

Mrs. Snedden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mendenhall, reside in Pittsburgh, Kansas.

CONVICTS ARE 'GLAD
IT'S ALL OVER WITH'

COLUMBUS, O., May 27.—"Glad it's over with."

With that feeling, Clinton Grate, 31, and Hugh Gibbons, 36, sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday for starting the Ohio penitentiary fire. Grate pleaded guilty to second degree murder and brought his trial to an abrupt end, were back in their prison cells today.

Although each was sentenced to life imprisonment, the pair must first complete unfinished terms for burglary, terms which will keep each of them busy for nearly a decade.

First discarding the "civvies" which they were allowed to wear in court, the two men went back to the penitentiary last night.

BLAME WOMAN FOR 4 DEATHS

Five on Whom Woman Holds
Insurance Policies To Be Examined Today.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Five persons on whose lives Mrs. Margaret Summers hold insurance policies were to be examined today to discover if they are suffering from arsenic poisoning. They fear they may be slowly dying and not know it.

Mrs. Summers was charged with the murder of four including her husband, nephew and two boarders, yesterday after a coroner's chemist found they had died from arsenic given in small doses over several months.

All had been insured in her favor. She is the beneficiary of 19 insurance policies, most of them in small amounts.

State's attorney's investigators ordered the body of Louis Meyers, Mrs. Summers' brother, exhumed today. He was the father of the 17-year-old boy, Thomas Meyers, whose death two weeks ago started the inquiry into the five deaths in the Summers household.

Sugar, salt and other supplies were taken to be analyzed for traces of arsenic, and friends and relatives of the family were asked to tell the addresses at which Mrs. Summers has lived so those places may be searched also.

T. F. Jeffries Is Elected
President of Circleville
Industrial Co.

STOCK IS PURCHASED

Land Bought In South
End for Factory Site

The Circleville Industrial Co. was organized Tuesday evening by the local Chamber of Commerce with the objective in mind of advancing the appeal of Circleville to industries contemplating on locating in this vicinity.

Officers of the company elected by the directors at the organization meeting are: T. F. Jeffries, president; J. R. Noecker, vice-president; W. E. Crist, treasurer, and Mack Parrett, Jr., secretary.

PROGRAM PLANNED

The program outlined by President of Council Tom O. Gilliland will cover a stretch of a period of years. The plan was inaugurated by the directors of the chamber of Commerce recently and T. F. Jeffries was appointed as agent to purchase land for a factory site. The plot in the south end of the city was obtained for a very low price, it is thought. The land embraces 2.75 acres, an excellent site for a factory and borders the Norfolk & Western railroad lines and no expense would be necessary to have a spur run from the railroad as is the case in most instances.

Incorporation papers were taken out in Columbus by T. F. Jeffries, T. O. Gilliland and R. L. Brehmer, represented by Atty. Meeker Terwilliger. The company was incorporated for $5,000, with stock valued at $10 per share.

When a motion that the Chamber of Commerce should purchase $70 shares of the stock, was read it was unanimously voted that such should be the course. A motion was later made that T. F. Jeffries, agent for the Chamber of Commerce, should be authorized to convey the title on the land to the Circleville Industrial Co.

An effort will be made to sell stock to residents of the city at prices of $10 per share, the Chamber of Commerce to hold 51 percent of the stock.

Dry Chief Is Cop

Reno, Nev., familiar with sensations supplied by its exclusive divorce colony, gasped the other day when the Rev. E. F. Jones (above), State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, became a city blue coat with a regulation beat to pound. The "bone dry" appointment by Mayor E. E. Roberts, re-elected on a dripping wet platform which included the suggestion that barrels of corn whiskey be provided on every street corner, has set even blasé Reno by the ears.

Two Scientists Are Exploring "Stratosphere"

AUGSBURG, Germany, May 27.—Sealed in an airtight aluminum ball suspended from a giant gas bag, two Swiss scientists ascended to the skies today in an effort to explore the "stratosphere" 50,000 feet above the surface of the earth.

The daring scientists, seeking to reach a height never before attained by man, were Professor Auguste Piccard, famous physicist and meteorologist, and his assistant Dr. Paul Kipper. Both are members of the faculty of the university of Brussels.

Six hours after the huge balloon took off from the field near Augsburg it passed completely out of the range of vision. Observers expressed the belief that balloonists had succeeded in entering the "stratosphere."

COUNTY TO HELP WALNUT TRUSTEES

An arrangement was reached by the county commissioners and the Walnut-twp trustees to improve the Circleville-Rockbourne rd. in Walnut-twp. with the two parties to split the cost.

It is planned to surface the road with crude oil after the county has placed it in repair.

The improvement will be made from the Bayer camp on the Scioto Trail to the overhead bridge over Walnut Creek.

Our Moral Obligation

(An Editorial.)

Through the work of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce a rather definite idea has been gained in organizing the Circleville Industrial Co. Inc. This organization, formed by and through the co-operation of the present members of the Chamber of Commerce, now have something tangible to work with.

The Chamber of Commerce is the leading organization for promotion of industrial and commercial activity of any community, and so it is in Circleville.

For many years an idea such as this has been in the minds of several of the most active members of this organization. For several years a nucleus for promoting this idea has been in progress, and when the opportunity came, money was available to purchase some of the abandoned right-of-way of The Scioto Valley Fraction Co. in the south end of Circleville.

It is now up to the business men of Circleville who have not become associated with the Circleville Industrial Co. to support this organization by becoming an owner of one share of stock, to assist in this industrial expansion program.

The time is ripe for obtaining results. Any business man who refuses to join with the Circleville Industrial Co. but says that he will join when it shows promise of paying dividends is dangerously near the situation of one who beats the transportation company out of his fare.

Your ten dollars toward one share of stock in the Circleville Industrial Co. will be repaid again and again as you give toward the development of your local town, where your moral obligation demands your cooperation.

Kirkland Gets Minor Sentence

Feeling Roused After Finding

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 27.—Under guard to prevent any possible attempts on his life, Virgil Kirkland, 20, was to appear in court this morning to be formally sentenced to one to ten years in the Indiana state reformatory for assault and battery with intent to commit a criminal attack on his young sweetheart Arlene Draves.

The former Gary, Ind., high school football star received a sentence of life imprisonment at the first trial in connection with the death of Arlene at a liquor party last November.

Feeling in this community was aroused after the verdict was returned last night when it was reported that three members of the jury said they thought they were voting a more severe penalty than they did.

Prosecutor Robert C. Estill at first stated his intentions of asking the court to delay sentencing Kirkland until an investigation could be made but this plan was discarded after it was learned that under the Indiana law a jury cannot impeach its own verdict.

Disappointed at the verdict since they had demanded no halfway measures and either the electric chair or acquittal for the defendant, the state said that charges against the four co-defendants with Kirkland would be dropped.

The four, Leon Stanford, Paul Barton, Henry Shirk and David Thompson have been held in jail since the night Arlene died.

Charles Draves, father of the dead girl, left courtroom shaking his fist and shouting: "You haven't heard the last of this yet!"

A rapid sequence of events ended the sensational trial with its sordid disclosures of the drinking party. Ronald Oldham, one of Kirkland's lawyers, was arrested as the jury received the case, and was to have a hearing today on a charge of passing worthless checks in Butler-co, Ohio.

In the excitement at the verdict, which the courtroom spectators cheered thinking it was a death sentence. Oscar Thiel, another of the defense counsel, was hit in the face by Guy Weaver, father of Mrs. Bernice Elser, one of the witnesses, whom Thiel had condemned in his closing argument.

Kirkland will be eligible for parole at the end of a year.

The jurors were said to have taken only one ballot, and were out about three hours.

CITY SCHOOLS END THURSDAY

Pupils of High and Elementary Grades To Receive Reports Monday.

This is probably the last year that the city schools will have closed as late as May 28, as the city board of education has decided to reduce the school term to nine months, and this is effective beginning next year. Formerly the school term included 38 weeks.

Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered to the graduating class Sunday evening at the Lutheran church by Rev. George L. Trautman, at 7:30.

BLAME MILLER FOR DISMISSAL

O. S. U. Trustees, Through Rightmare, Chalmers Parnell, Objected to Teaching of Miller

COLUMBUS, O., May 27.—Swearing protests against the dismissal of Dr. Herbert Miller, outspoken sociology professor, trustees of Ohio State University based their decision on a statement that Dr. Miller had made on race questions, many of which were popular with students.

Declaring that the recent campaign against compulsory military drill in which Miller was a leader, was in no way responsible for the action, trustees said that the "innocent little speech" the professor said he gave in Bombay in March 1930, was not as harmless as he says.

"There is evidence that he said a great deal more than he has related, the trustees said in a statement which was issued for the last night by President George W. Rightmare.

"Here was an American professor, an employee of the university of a state whose nation was at peace with Great Britain, hoping to incite the Hindus to civil disobedience," the statement charged.

Mrs. Landis and her chauffeur were accounted by the inmates as they were putting the car in the garage and were admitted to the house by Landis.

When Landis brought the body of two young sons from former Chicago Police Commissioner to the appeal to bankers and to the stock market, they lost the market.

Mrs. Glen Galt, 223 S. Scioto-st., was rushed to her home from Berger hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Warren Cummins, student in Miss Buskirk's seventh grade English class, submitted the best poem in a poetry writing contest sponsored by Miss Buskirk. The poem read as follows:

"Ma's Tools"

It seems to be the rule
 Pop never has 'the proper tool'
 Or seems to fix things right off the reel,
 But ma she fixes it with zeal.

I broke the window shade one day
 And the thing would roll not either way,
 Pop said, "Nobody'll fix that thing,"

But ma she fixed it with a piece of string.

One day our cabinet door got stuck
 And pop he swore he'd fix it up,
 Went to town to buy a plane,
 But ma fixed it with might and main.

So when I have something to fix
 Do I take to Pop? "Nix!"
 But straight to ma I run
 And watch her fix it with great-est fun.

CREAM CO-OP

SHOWS GAIN

The Pickaway Cream Cooperative association during the week of May 18 to 23, handled 11,088.3 pounds of butterfat. This volume is the largest handled during any one week in the seven years operation of the organization. Cream producers throughout the county have developed in their cooperative cream marketing service, one of the largest county cream marketing organizations in the county.

Through the returns received, producers have generally recognized the advantage of their own cooperative merchandising program, through which the cream producer receives his compensation for his butterfat upon the weights and the test of his own marketing association.

The association provides a truck gathering service on nine routes throughout the county. Any producer wishing to avail himself of this service, may do so by letting the Farm Bureau or representatives of the Cream association know of his desire.

The directors of the Pickaway Cream Cooperation association are: C. T. Hay, Walnut-twp, president; John A. Bell, Circleville-twp, vice-president; R. R. Bressler, Clear-creek-twp, Fairfield-co, secretary; Clay Hitler, Washington-twp; A. M. Peters, Madison-twp; J. L. Shasteen, Wayne-twp and Walter E. Berger, Harrison-twp.

Five hundred canners, who contract for almost 60 per cent of the tomatoes raised each year have contracted for about one quarter less acreage this spring. Last year 401,000 acres of tomatoes were harvested for canning companies; this year their contracts call for a harvest of 309,000 acres.

FOR CLASSIFIED readers a little money goes a long way.

CAT CARES FOR 5 PUPS

PITTSBURGH.—Rescuing five pedigreed collie puppies has won Mary, an understanding cat, a place today in the large dog family of Louise, the collie mother. The pets are owned by W. E. Brennen and live on his estate near here. When Louise, the collie, was compelled to care for five puppies in a tree, she left behind a second litter of five tiny ones in a cold barn. Mary, the cat, had just lost three kittens; so, with true mother instinct, she found her way to the abandoned pups and nursed them until help came from the household.

The problem of men's descent is to make it an ascent.

It is not necessary to examine some family trees very closely to discover the graft.

"Blue Monday" originated with a 16th century European custom of decorating the churches in blue on the Monday before Lent.

Then, for years "Blue Monday" referred to washday. That was when washday meant carrying in water from pump or rain barrel, waiting for it to heat, filling and emptying awkward tubs—drudgery.

Both "Blue Mondays" are now things of the past. The church custom is no longer followed and the convenient service your water company offers has banished washday blues.

Army Air Fight Historic Event

By A. E. FUCHS
International News Service
Radio Editor
NEW YORK—The vast and dramatic army maneuvers climaxing with the air raids on New York City will go down in history as epoch-making for more reasons than that it marks perhaps the most spectacular event yet staged by the United States Government in peace times.

In the history of radio probably there has never before been so extensive a series of pre-arranging, engineering, experimenting, installing of new equipment, blue-printing and rehearsing of performers' roles and actions for one single event.

Even after all the details have become common knowledge to every one in the nation, interesting features still keep coming to light.

For the first time, and after months of work by NBC engineers, a portable broadcasting control board was perfected and ready for this occasion and any worthy event that may follow. In it converge all the special wire lines and circuits to carry a running description by as many as ten announcers at a time. It is a self-contained unit which can operate on its own power. It can be taken out in the middle of the woods and it will function. With this device the director can captain his crew of announcers often many miles away. Yet the instrument is only five feet by seven in size. It stands upright, a shiny black front of panels studded with numerous controls, tubes, switches, plugs and gauges.

These connect forty different lines to ten microphone positions. Four lines run to each position, including a private line for the director (for the army maneuvers, to William Burke Miller), and his announcers. Through his "cuing" orders are issued, or the announcers exchange cues. Also they can hear the program over a "feedback" line. "Faders" enable the monitoring engineer to "fade in" one announcer and "fade out" the voice of another as the broadcasting progresses from point to point.

Through these and other more technical functions, the entire broadcasting crew can be in constant touch with each other behind the scenes, and at the same time hear the complete performance, as if it were a play and they had choice seats in the theater.

Meanwhile Columbia prepared itself for the memorable event by setting up extra receiving and transmitting apparatus which they figure cost more than $10,000. One thing especially constructed are nine highly sensitive superheterodyne receivers located at strategic points in the metropolitan area; two short wave receivers for the airplanes; a fifty watt ground transmitter to keep in constant touch with the planes; two fifty-watt lightweight short wave transmitters for the planes; thousands of feet of extra telephone wire from all the land line points of contact to the distributing center, and expensive coordinating equipment.

Edwin K. Cohan, CBS technical director, says the preparations for this one spectacle have been more costly than any attempted in the brief history of their organization.

Hello Japan! Our new radio neighbor will exchange greetings for the second time on Memorial Day. U. S. Ambassador Forbes and Vincent Kentaro Kaneko will be heard from Tokyo over NBC; the American national anthem and native music will be played by the Japanese navy band, the program lasting twenty minutes. Then will follow a ten-minute return program sent from the NBC San Francisco studios. The time: 8:15 to 8:45 A. M., E. D. T.

Word comes that The Revelers famous male quartet, already known internationally, will be swinging shortly into their three-month tour of Europe which will take them to Brussels, Cologne, Amsterdam, Hamburg, Berlin, Dresden, Prague, Vienna, Munich, Zurich, Geneva, Paris (for two weeks), Schaveningen, then across to Plymouth—and back home.

With E. F. Hutton as general chairman, the Salvation Army's annual drive for funds is on, by land and air. In the midst of it they are planning a great benefit at Madison Square Garden on the night of Tuesday, May 26th. The Garden is donated and NBC has assumed responsibility for staging the spectacle. They call it a radio circus. Amos and Andy, Seth Parker, Rudy Vallee, Ruth Etting, Erno Rapee, Paul Whiteman, Harry Richman are scheduled to be there.

If you did not know—Tony Wons has broadcast more than 2,000 times in the past seven years but is now engaged for his first sponsored broadcast. Elsie Mae Gordon, monologist began to work selling pop-corn and paper flowers her mother made. Frank Winegar, a former U. of P. golf star, shoots eighteen holes in the middle seventies. . . . Announcer Harry van Zell at eighteen was a promising lightweight boxer on the Pacific Coast. . . . Wilbur Cramer, chief engineer of station KBC, Kansas City, wrote the course in the mechanics of hearing which engineers at WABC are taking. . . . Phillips Carlin, NBC, eastern program director, has the Northwest Indians to thank for a totem pole. . . . A. B. Chamberlain, chief engineer at Columbia, is called "the ABC of radio." . . . Frank Readick appears in eighteen dramatic broadcasts weekly. . . . William Brent and Douglas Evans are the two new announcers you hear over WABC.

EXPLAIN CONTROL OF MELON BUGS

The greatest hazard to the melon grower is experienced by the striped cucumber beetle. This insect is usually awaiting the first appearance of the melon seedlings. The most effective control of this insect enemy is through thorough dusting of the seedlings with a dust prepared from 20 pounds Gypsum and one pound of Calcium Arsenate. The grower should see that the dust is thoroughly applied. Do not use lime as a carrier of the Calcium Arsenate in these party dusts, because it has a dwarfing effect upon the young melon plants. When the melon vines have developed to the place that they are about ready to fall over, the dusting program should be changed to the Copper Lime dust which is prepared by using 12 1-2 pounds monohydrated Copper Sulphate to 70 pounds high grade hydrated lime. The dusting treatment should be applied once every 10 days to two weeks, depending upon the amount of rainfall which we have during this growing season.

Thoro dusting through which insects and fungus diseases may be controlled will be a great help in improving the quality and yield of the melon crop.

INDIAN'S MARITAL CODE
BARSTOW, Calif.—When Manuel Chapooli, aged Indian returned here after he had completed a sentence of 14 years in San Quentin prison, he found his wife had been true to his promise to wait for him; the reunion was lacking in emotion. It was as if Chapooli had been gone but a few hours.

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Mothers Cry," the current attraction at the Cliftona Theater is a screen adaptation by First National of Helen Grace Carlisle's best-selling novel by the same name. The picture holds closely to the book, adding only the power and drama that a screen interpretation can lend to a great story.

Helen Chandler, who plays the been playing dramatic roles for the Theatre Guild in New York and in this production makes her debut in a modern role. Helen Grace Carlisle, who wrote the story, knew Miss Chandler in New York and remarked after writing the novel that Betty would be a splendid part for her, if the book was ever dramatized. Neither one thought about picture possibilities, and it was a great surprise to the author to learn that Miss Chandler had already been cast in the talkie version of her story.

AT THE GRAND

A paradoxical regard for life is that of the fire fighter—the man who risks his life in an effort to stop a devastating, destroying monster that has started, nine times out of ten, through someone's carelessness.

The fireman must value life as everything—and as nothing. His own is worth nothing if a sacrifice is necessary, but the life of anyone trapped in a burning structure is worth everything. He has to have the will always to fight desperately for life—and yet he must have the fatalism to die when there is nothing else left!

Firemen are the heroes of "The Third Alarm," the Tiffany special feature at the Grand theatre. Their loves, their lives, their heroics are depicted in this story by Emilie Johnson, directed by Emory Johnson, and recorded by RCA Photophone. The all-star-cast includes Anita Louise, James Hall, Paul Hurst, Jean Hersholt, Hobart Bosworth, Mary Dora, William H. Stryker, and Nita Martin and others.

Any member of the Grand Theatre Society, 166 W. Main St., is invited to be a guest of the Society at the Grand Theatre. This office for ticket.

CUSSINS & FEARN

Mack's Winning Streak Is Ended

NEW YORK, May 27.—To be a champion is to be great, a mite of a man with big feet proved today. Vernon Gomez, a hurler from Redondo, California, simply left-handed the Philadelphia Athletics to death, allowing them only seven hits and winning for the New York Yankees 6 to 2. The triumph snapped the A's sensational winning streak at 17 games and returned the New Yorkers to second place in the American League chase.

Babe Ruth was important with three hits, including home run No. 7.

We would not detract from the little man's big job in the least but when the cat is away the mice will play and Mr. Rommel, up there on the mound for the A's, did not prove a Grove, a Walberg or an Earnshaw. The A's hitting was the lightest since May 9, when they made six blasts against St. Louis. Al Simmons crashed his ninth homer and today had hit into his 24th consecutive game, still trailing Combs of the Yanks by a single game.

Hubbell and Walker blanked the Boston Braves twice the New York Giants snatching the double victory, 3 to 0 and 5 to 0. In the opener, Wesley Schumacher, former Pacific Coast slugger, was the sole acquaintance of Mr. Hubbell, cracking a couple of harmless singles.

The Cubs of Chicago continued to hit the ball, winning 7 to 2 and 9 to 6 from the Cincy Reds. Stephenson led the bat attack for Chicago. Moore, taking the place of the benched stick star, Hack Wilson, failed to connect in the second clash but hit safely twice in the first game.

Jack Russell allowed 13 hits but managed to beat the Senators, 6 to 4 and end the seven-game losing stretch of the Ruddy Sox of Boston. Sam Jones dropped his first game of the season.

Buzz Arlett, the former Oakland, Calif., citizen, who objects to being called a rookie because he played more than 10 years on the coast, blasted the Brooklyn Robins for Philadelphia, 8 to 4. Arlett got three doubles and a single, scoring two of the Phillies' four earned runs.

Hafey, Bottomley and Adams pounded the pill for the Cardinals to overcome the Pirates, 11 to 9.

Effective pitching by Miller and Harder, coupled with the hitting of Myatt and Harder tumbled the St. Louis Browns twice, Cleveland winning, 12 to 0 and 4 to 2.

George Uhle was good for only two runs and offset those by pitching a homer with one on, to lower away the White Sox for Detroit, 4 to 2.

ERRORS AID OIL OUTFIT

Both Teams Score Five Hits But Eight Miscues Aid League Leaders.

Cincinnati Oils added another to their string of victories when they defeated the Red Men by a score of 8-2 at Utilities field Tuesday evening. At the beginning of the game it looked bad for the Oils, but they staged a great rally in the ninth to score five runs. Errors on the part of the Indians caused the rally.

The Red Men started in good style hitting timely and allowing no errors. Purcell, hurler for the winners walked the first run home for the Indians. The latter continued in the second and scored another run on a hit. The Oils were held scoreless until the fourth when they counted a man on an error. Scoring on the part of both teams subsided until the seventh stanza, when through two more errors, the

Golden Gloves Meet Arranged

A Pickaway-co Golden Gloves tournament is to be held at new Everts area on the evening of June 11 and 12. The tournament is being sponsored by the Franklin A. C. and is novel to this vicinity although it has proven popular in larger cities in the past several years.

The purpose of such entertainment is to arouse interest in boxing and to uncover new fistic material. The boys who enter the tournament will be fighting for honor and not money and will evidently be putting forth their best efforts.

The bouts are to consist of three 3-minute rounds staged under amateur rules. Golden Gloves will be awarded the winners in each division with the name of the winner engraved thereon, according to the promoters. The winner of the heavyweight division shall be awarded a silver loving cup with his name also engraved.

Different organizations, clubs and business establishments may enter boxers if they desire. Any lad aspiring the fistic honors may enter independently. The entry blank is herein published and all that is necessary is to read the rules and act accordingly.

ROBBED POLICE STATION

VIENNA.—Burglars with a sense of humor stripped the police headquarters and the police school of the Austrian town of St. Poelten. First they stole the skeleton keys and other tools from the storeroom of the police school, and then they opened all rooms, closets and desks in the building, stealing everything valuable. They also tried to force the safe, but had no time to complete their work. They were probably frightened away by some early-arriving police students.

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by Will L. Lindhorst

HOW TO HOLD LIGHTED CANDLE UNDER WATER

Place a small candle on a large cork, light the candle, and sink it in a full of water. Then turn a large glass upside down over the candle and push it down into the water until it is completely submerged. The air inside the glass will prevent the water from entering and the candle will stay lit until the oxygen inside the glass is exhausted. If you cannot find a large cork, the base of which must be larger than the glass, anything else tight enough to float will do. It would be interesting to make a wager with your friends as to how long the candle will burn under water. A large glass will hold more oxygen and enable the candle to burn longer.

Coat Required For The Correct 1931 Ensemble

PARIS—Negligees don't neglect their coats and jackets this season. They always come ensemble. For the ensemble's the thing for every hour of the day, these days.
Boue Soeurs are showing a lovely jacket ensemble in a long petticoat slip of pink crepe de chine bordered with white which is joined by pink embroidery. The little jacket matches, with the addition of a rose boutonniere catching a bit of blue ribbon. It is the ideal negligee to don before or after the bath.
Another boudoir ensemble is a filmy affair of white chiffon with white satin girdle, but the coat is long enough and heavy enough to transform it into a negligee affair.

UNIVERSITY GUILD REPRESENTATIVE HERE

Fred M. Towles, Regional Director of the University Guild, arrived in Circleville today to formulate plans for the enrollment of charter members. The Guild sponsors the National Pi Omicron Sorority in which upwards of 37,000 business women have enrolled since its formation two years ago. State and National educators are taking an active part in lectures and educational programs in the outstanding adult educational movement that is sweeping the country. Active memberships in Columbus and Cincinnati show the tremendous appreciation and co-operation extended the University Guild in Southern Ohio.

The largest justification for the Guild program for the woman lies in the fact that she can cover more ground in a shorter space of time than she can in any other educational plan of cultural fundamental training that is in existence today, either in or out of the classroom, it is said.

The last feature was a May pole stunt. After the ribbons of the May pole were interwoven, it was found that Mrs. Lee Luellen held the ribbon which was named "May Queen." All Maypole participants responded with some stunt.

This meeting was well attended, about 40 being present, including Sorosis members, their mothers who were invited guests, and also a large number of friends, both adults and children.

CONVICTS ARE GLAD IT'S ALL OVER WITH

COLUMBUS, O., May 27— "Glad it's over with."

With that feeling, Clinton Grate, 31, and Hugh Gibbons, 36, sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday for starting the Ohio penitentiary fire. Grate pleaded guilty to second degree murder and brought his trial to an abrupt end, were back in their prison cells today.

Although each was sentenced to life imprisonment, the pair must first complete unfinished terms for burglary, terms which will keep each of them busy for nearly a decade.

First discarding the "civvies" which they were allowed to wear in court, the two men went back to the penitentiary last night.

Hollywood On Broadway... Undertones... Overtones

NEW YORK—The timbers of "Alison's House," the Pulitzer prize play, were picked as clean as a bone in a dog pound by critics, actors, and gallery gods.

In fact, it is as difficult to find anyone who will speak well of it above a whisper—as difficult as it is to discover a theatrical manager who will admit he made money this season.

The script which grew from a cottage play to a theatrical mansion through the award was moved up from its obscurity in Eva Le Gallienne's Civic Repertory Theater to a Broadway Theater by Lee Shubert.

At its premiere, there seemed to be nobody in the lobby with whom to argue.

Only a hostelry magnate recorded himself in favor of the selection on the ground that it would make a swell name for a summer hotel.

"Alison's House," by Susan Glaspell, is more of an intellectual episode than a tense dramatic conflict which might be expected from a production to receive the golden apple of a prize dramatic jury. True, it "uplifts" good manners and good morals, as do all plays, so does a book on etiquette, a cooking volume, and the widest of chum reports.

The shadow behind the substance of the production suggests that a poet's work lives after her. This utterance has long been suspected, if not accepted, in various corners of the intelligentsia world.

The other reason for the play, aside from its winning the prize, appears to be that it is the life of the late Emily Dickinson, eminent American poetess.

It fails primarily, because there is no breath in the life of Emily. The scenes occur eighteen years after she is dead. Her affair with a married man is referred to instead of portrayed.

Her suppression of a raging love is relayed at second hand. Even the contents of her passionate love-poems are unrevealed.

A far cry from the hard-boiled newspapermen in "Front Page," there is a reporter from Chicago who feels the poetic influence of Alison the most.

The reporter is more interested in his love-affair with a member of the household than getting his story. The reporter is also more interested in aiding the younger relatives of Alison to save her new discovered poems. Her elderly brother wishes to burn them for her love-affair a private family matter.

Every thought that the prize award lay among a group of plays including "Once in a Lifetime," "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," "Five Star Final," and "Green Grow the Lilacs." But everybody was wrong which shows that it is safer to bet on the Kentucky Derby than on the Pulitzer play award.

On the other side, the award has stimulated theatrical conversation. That is a healthy contribution to an art lest it be beautiful but dumb.

McNamee To Report Auto Classic

GRAHAM MCNAMEE, radio's ace reporter of sporting events, has again been chosen as the nation's eye-witness for the 500-mile auto race classic at Indianapolis on May 30. The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company will sponsor the last and most exciting hour of the race. Perched high in the glass-enclosed pergola near the finish line, McNamee will describe the shouting thousands in the stands, the milling hordes afoot inside the track, and the gruelling tussle of 40 of the world's most famous racers in their grim race with death. McNamee says the Indianapolis races surpass all sporting events for excitement. He will take the air at 2:15 p. m. Central Standard time and will tell his story over a network of 55 stations in the United States and Canada including WEAF and the NBC red chain. Four former winners are entered. A win is worth about $50,000. It is said that all former records will be broken. (Broadcasting Time: 3:15 Eastern, 2:15 Central 1:15 Mountain, 12:15 Coast. Daylight Saving one hour earlier.)
